

Children's Friendship Training

Children's Friendship Training is an evidence-based, group-format, parent-assisted social skills intervention for children ages 6 to 12. It has been proven effective with verbal children who have high-functioning Autism and has been used and studied for over 20 years with more than 1,000 families.

Children's Friendship Training is an 8-week, evidence-based social skills intervention for motivated children who are interested in learning ways to help them make and keep friends. During each group session children are taught crucial social skills and are given the opportunity to practice these skills in session during role-play and play activities.

Parents are taught how to assist their children in making and keeping friends by providing feedback through coaching during weekly socialization homework assignments designed to build on skills practiced in the sessions.

Topics of Instruction:

- How to 'play detective' to find common interests
- How to join a group of kids at play
- How to handle rejection, teasing, and bullying
- How to be a good host on a play date
- How to be a good winner
- How to be a good sport
- How to show respect to adults
- How to make phone-calls to friends
